Homework

Every Monday the children will receive a homework packet of practice exercises that reinforce the learning concepts of that week. The homework packet is a positive way for the children to practice at home what they have been learning in school. The homework packet will usually consist of math and handwriting activities. The children have until Friday of that week to turn in their completed homework packet. However, if they finish early, they may turn it in any day of the school week.

In addition, the children will have reading homework throughout the school week. Each time the children finish another book from the reading program, they will bring it home to practice reading with their friends and family. The children will need to store all their reading books in a special "book box" in their room. The children need to continue to practice reading their sight words from their reading books or from their sight words list as homework throughout the school year. The purpose of this activity is to reinforce their ability to remember these words.
